

Gaps in the cliffs near the Tower Bungalows

Luke Warburton

1. Private, gated access.
2. Private, gated access.
3. Private, blocked, but can be prised open. This is the one with the 'cave photos'. It goes up to the garden but is blocked at the top. You can see daylight, but cannot open it.
4. Would there have been private stairs at one point? Stairs from garden to deck still there, but railings rotting so doubt it's used these days. Would the brickwork be part of the cliff repairs we have archived? (1913 maybe).
5. To one of the Tower Bungalows. Blocked, but could probably squeeze through one day when I'm without the dog.
6. To one of the Tower Bungalows. Perhaps private stairs down to beach at one point?
7. To one of the Tower Bungalows. Blocked.
8. Blocked. Where the newer flats are.
9. Public access. Doesn't seem to be used that much these days as rather overgrown and unkempt towards the top.
10. Same as the other week, but other angle. Would have led up to Fair Outlook.
11. You can still walk up and down this one. Comes out at St Magnus Close.
