

Post-card of Brooks's Refreshment Rooms
Note by Laurie Brooks

With (I'm pretty sure) my Aunt Maggie sitting in the doorway (note the clothes similar to woman's in the P.C. of the Square)
In the second photo it is called "The tea Rooms". I think this photo is later as "Rutter's Mitcham Shag" has deteriorated somewhat. Also "H.E. Osbourne attendance" sign has disappeared. The doors of Lloyd's Bank next door look particularly "Wild West", don't you think?

The old curved sign had once hung over the shop when it was in Southdown at the entrance to the Methodist Church.

J.M.B.

